

A. P. A. REORGANIZED HERE WITH OLD AIMS

Circular Says Catholic Church Is Putting Its Puppets in Public Office.

MITCHEL IS MENTIONED

Declares Sulzer Was Removed to Make Room for Glynn, a Catholic.

A new American Protective Association, with the same purpose and inspiration as the old organization, which went out of active existence years ago, has been started in this city. The headquarters are at 1 Fifth avenue, where George P. Newman, the president, and John N. Parker, vice-president and general manager, Daniel Kennedy, secretary and treasurer, will also be found at that address if any one wants to join. The three officers sign the following circular, setting forth their intentions, which has been distributed throughout New York and neighboring cities in the last few days:

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

"A call to arms is being sounded for every American patriot to save the country from the blighting hand of the Roman Catholic Church. Can you not discern the signs of the times? It is putting its puppets in office all over the country. John Purroy Mitchel, Romanist, and member of the Corcoran Council, Knights of Columbus, has been elected Mayor of New York. William Sulzer was deposed as Governor because he was a Protestant, so as to allow Glynn, a Roman Catholic and a Knight of Columbus, to become New York's first Roman Catholic Governor. Major Mitchell, another Knight of Columbus, has been appointed Collector of the Port of New York at the behest of the system."

"Mitchel, under the K. of C. oath, is bound to appoint only Catholics, when possible, to offices under his administration. The cry was 'TAMMANY HAS BEEN DEFEATED.' But has it? What is Tammany? Simply the fighting arm of the Roman Catholic Church, and Mitchel himself has said that he is 'one of her loyal sons.' So what may we expect?"

"THE AMERICAN PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION has been organized by a large committee of patriotic citizens to revive the splendid work of the old A. P. A. of twenty years ago, and already the various secret societies under the ban of the heads of the Roman propaganda have offered their earnest support."

"There is more need for A. P. A. work now than there ever has been. Our declaration of principles is: (1) We unite to protect the institutions and Government of our country from the operation of the Roman Catholic hierarchy political machine, which is working under the guise of the Knights of Columbus and similar Catholic societies; (2) we are resolved to maintain a complete separation of Church and State by securing legislation to tax all church property and prevent any public money being given to Roman Catholic religious, parochial, schools or other sectarian institutions; (3) it is our aim to fill every office of the nation, State and municipality with men of ability, integrity and pure patriotism; (4) we are determined to prevent the Roman Catholic hierarchy from being a menace to American liberties and civilization are invited to join this association."

Parker Talks of Plans.

Vice-President and General Manager Parker was the only official at home when a story reported that he had been elected yesterday afternoon. The house is a sign "rooms" outside, and there was nothing official looking about the report, which Parker told, briefly but assertively, of the American Protective Association. He was asked if he and his associates meant all they said in the circular. He replied that they did. "Our plans have been matured for three months," he said. "We have started this organization because we believe that there should never be a union of Church and State, which we fear is likely to come if the instances found in our circular are allowed to multiply."

While surviving members of the old American Protective Association had nothing to do with the formation of the new organization, they will take part in it, Mr. Parker said.

Will Get Paper's Support.

He also plans to get the support of various anti-Catholic publications, such as the Advance, which is published weekly at 36, claims a million subscribers and has been in every issue since its start, without reservation, all that is Catholic. "And if there wasn't a rather severe reaction upon President Wilson in the early part of his administration to the Catholicism of the Port first John Purroy Mitchel, a Catholic, and then Dudley Field Malone, a Catholic."

"We intended no reflection on the President. Our idea is that the powerful Catholic organizations are working to get control of public office and that the President was influenced through these channels without knowing it."

Mr. Mitchel desires to avoid social functions and declined to authorize a special reception which the Knights of Columbus wanted to tender him here, notifying them by wireless that that effect. He attended mass in Colon and then crossed to Panama. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchel occupy the Presidential suite at the Tivoli Hotel.

Government Cables for Inquiry Into Restrictions Against Hindus.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
SIMLA, Nov. 23.—The effect in India of the agitation among the Hindus in South Africa, where they are protesting against the restriction of Asiatic immigration, is serious.

The Indian Government cabled twice in the last few days impressing upon the Marquis of Crewe, Lord Privy Seal and formerly Secretary of State for India, the need for an impartial investigation into the charges made by the Hindu workers of ill treatment in the mines of South Africa and urging that the Hindus be represented.

Direct negotiations between the Governments of India and South Africa are also urged. Viscount Gladstone, Governor-General of South Africa, and Lord Hardinge, Viceroy of India, have already exchanged cable messages on the subject.

MORE ATROCITIES IN THE AMAZON DISTRICT

Anti-Slavery Society Has Testimony Dealing With Peonage There.

CRUELITIES POINTED OUT

Suggests That Governments Concerned Combine to Stamp Out the Evil.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Officials of the Anti-Slavery Society wrote to the British Government on November 15 alleging that on the testimony of an Englishman who was ready to place himself at the disposal of the authorities atrocities worse than those exposed in Putumayo were being committed along the head waters of the Amazon.

"Partly through ignorance and partly through the deception practiced on them certain Englishmen whose names can be supplied," the document said, "have become involved in the exploitation of natives in a manner which effectively prevents their return to their homes. Many of the native workers have succumbed to the cruel treatment."

The letter goes on to say that a system of peonage exists in Beni, Acre and other districts more cruel and more destructive of life than the system in vogue in the days of slave trading. It says many women have been slain and hundreds flogged and that suicides among the rubber workers are frequent.

Agents Could Be Arrested.

It is said that the names of several of the white agents are in possession of the society. One of them is a man called by Sir Roger Casement, who investigated the Putumayo atrocities, the worst criminal in South America and the inventor of the torture of semi-drowning.

"Two of these agents," it continues, "trade openly between Manaus and Acre and might easily be arrested either by Peruvian, Brazilian or Bolivian authorities. Two others accused by Sir Roger Casement of appalling crimes have been working at Iquitos. They have with them thirty-five men, women and children stolen from the Putumayo region. Another, who was chief of the Sur section of Putumayo, is exploiting Indians along the Abura River in Brazilian and Bolivian territory. His initial capital was obtained by selling two women and two boys taken from Putumayo."

The society suggested to the Government that it would be advisable to keep the matter secret for one month so that the Governments concerned could make a concerted move against the criminals, who are well known to the authorities of Bolivia, Brazil and Peru. It was urged also that a thorough investigation should be made and warning issued to Englishmen contemplating the purchase of rubber fields on the upper Amazon.

The reply of the Government has not been issued.

Confirms Report of Atrocities.

The Daily News and Leader quotes an unnamed correspondent who made a journey up the Amazon recently and confirms the worst features of the story.

"Five hundred lashes are usually administered as punishment for a trivial offence," he says. "I really believe the Brazilian Government is at least anxious that its Indian subjects be justly treated. It sent soldiers to arrest an American for shooting two half-breeds and he was hanged, but the Government permits."

ENGLAND'S EPIDEMIC OF ARMIES.

"Daily Citizen" Sees Every Association
Arming Itself in Future.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, Nov. 24.—The labor organ Daily Citizen, which usually combines sanity with keen advocacy of the interests of the workers, comments this morning on the "epidemic of amateur armies" in the British Isles, instancing the Ulsterites, the British League to Help the Ulstermen, the Gaelic League, the Dublin Transport Workers Union and Sylvia Pankhurst's East Side Army. It says:

"If things continue at the present pace every association will turn out in squad form to enforce its opinions with the bludgeon or the rifle. It is a farce, of course, but a dangerous farce, a farce of foolery, the negation of everything that makes for popular advancement."

WILSON BRIDAL PAIR PASS CHURCHLY DAY

Ante-Nuptial Excitement Lacking—Members of Party
Arrive To-day.

ALL SET FOR REHEARSAL

Dance on Yacht Mayflower, Which May Be Used for the Bridal Trip.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The President and his family spent Sunday very quietly. There were few callers at the White House, and the day was one of rest from the excitements of the wedding preparations.

The bride to be, accompanied by her fiancé, Francis Howes Sayre, attended the Central Presbyterian Church in the morning. They accompanied the President and Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson and the Misses Smith, who are house guests of the President.

A considerable crowd was on hand outside the church. Within every pew seat was occupied. The church attendance of the President has become an old story for the members of the congregation at the Central Presbyterian Church, but the presence of the bride and bridegroom attracted the throng. The services of a dozen policemen in the neighborhood of the church were useful in keeping the crowd from jostling the White House party.

After service Mr. Sayre lunched with the White House family and in the afternoon, in company with Miss Jessie Wilson and her mother, went for a motor ride through Potomac Park and the residential section of the city.

Sayre at the Hughes Home.

Mr. Sayre, who has spent the last three days in the city, transferred his belongings and likewise himself to the home of Associate Justice and Mrs. Charles E. Hughes last night.

The ladies and Mr. Sayre's best man will arrive to-morrow morning. Also the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Robert H. Sayre of Bethlehem, Pa. She will be accompanied by her other son, the Rev. John Nevill Sayre, who will go to the White House and then join the bridegroom at the Hughes home.

To-morrow evening the relatives of the bride and bridegroom will meet together at a dinner arranged by the President and Mrs. Wilson in the White House, while the bride and bridegroom and members of the wedding party will be dining and dancing on board the Mayflower.

The officers on board have arranged a wonderful time for the pair.

It has been strongly hinted that the bride and bridegroom will spend the night at a dinner arranged by the President and Mrs. Wilson in the White House, while the bride and bridegroom and members of the wedding party will be dining and dancing on board the Mayflower.

The wedding procession will consist of four ushers, who will walk two and two behind the bride and bridegroom, the maid of honor, the bridesmaids will walk behind Miss Wilson, and the bride-to-be on the arm of her father, will come the last in line. As at the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom will be preceded by the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, the Rev. John Nevill Sayre, assistant, will await the coming of the procession at the dais at the west side of the East room.

Call on Miss Nevill.

The bride and bridegroom-elect went to call on Miss Blanche Nevill at the Shoreham this afternoon. It was at her home in Lancaster, Pa., that the young couple first met, and it was while Miss Wilson was visiting her last June that the engagement became public.

Miss Nevill's statue of Muhlenberg, the fighting paragon of Pennsylvania, now stands in statutory hall of the Capitol.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, who will be the best man, will arrive to-morrow morning with Mrs. Grenfell and they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Butler. The ushers in addition to Mr. Hughes, Jr., will all arrive to-morrow morning, including Benjamin B. Burton of New York, Dr. Russell Clark of Salem, Mass., and Dr. Gilbert Horax of Montclair, N. J.

The Rev. Sylvester W. Beach of Princeton, pastor of the church formerly attended by the President and Mrs. Wilson, also will arrive to-morrow and be a house guest of the President.

Miss Mary G. White of Baltimore, Miss Edeline Scott of Princeton, and Miss Marjorie Brown of Atlanta, bridesmaids, will arrive to-morrow morning at the White House.

Miss Jessie Wilson has received a second wedding cake this morn by the thirteen young women of the National School of Domestic Arts and Science. It was presented by two of the girls who were selected to make the presentation after several fruitless ballots in yearning for the honor, had repeatedly voted for themselves.

Two beautiful rugs are among the gifts. One is a white bear rug from Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wallace, the latter a daughter of the late Chief Justice Fuller. The other is from Perry and Minister and Miss Pease. The Wallace rug is one of the famous Alaska bear skins and the Perry rug is the skin of a rare South American animal.

PASTOR PRAISES MISS WILSON.

Dr. Reiser Says Her Life Has Been Given to Service of Others.

Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson's religious life was praised in a sermon on "Harvesting and Sowing" delivered by the Rev. Christian F. Reiser at Grace Methodist Church yesterday.

"Few young women have appeared in public and immediately commanded the affection she holds. Her pastor at Princeton, the Rev. Dr. Beach, who received her into the church, gave the secret of her life. She early joined the church and immediately and steadily gave herself to the service of her fellows. Hence she has not run to display, nor has she been turned by flattery, nor has she done foolish things."

"Why? Because she has, says Dr. Beach, been a devout and practical disciple of the Great Master and, sowing His words in her heart, she has reaped character, full of sweetness and strength. Hence she is marrying a man who leaves a public career in law and gives himself to the less profitable and thankless field of public service, that of education."

"Miss Wilson is simply reaping what she has sown and has become a worthy representative of American womanhood. She impresses one as doing the simple, right sort of things. She shows that it is possible to American womanhood."

DEMOCRATS TO SIFT LIVING COST BLAME

Will Fix Responsibility by Investigation. Soon to Be Made.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—An inquiry into the high cost of living with a view to demonstrating that the Democrats are in no way responsible is being talked of by leaders in Congress. The work may be entrusted to one commission or committee. A decision on this point will be reached at a conference of the Democratic leaders to be held later in the winter.

The question of the increased cost of living is a sore subject with Democrats these days. Reports from every direction are to the effect that prices continue to rise on the upward trend and only recently the statement was made by Senator Smoot of Utah, a Republican, much to the chagrin of the Democrats, that Thanksgiving dinners would come as high this year as ever in recent times, if not higher.

Democrats promised on the stump that they would pass a tariff bill that would reduce prices to the housewife, but a good many people are beginning to ask for explanations. The humble hen is in high disfavor with Democratic leaders because eggs, which were put on the free list by the United States Tariff Commission, are selling anywhere from 50 to 60 cents a dozen. Also many vegetables that were free-listed are bringing higher prices now than they did under the Republican tariff.

Unless a special commission or committee is named for the purpose, the House Committee on the Judiciary, which is about to begin an inquiry into the operations of corporations, will pay special attention to living costs. It is understood that the Commissioner of Corporations, who has announced that he will ask Congress to appropriate $500,000 to enable him to investigate the practices of so-called trusts, also will keep upon the subject of the cost of living.

Democrats charge that overcapitalization is a large factor, and they will dwell upon this point in official reports that they hope to reach the people before the Congressional elections of 1914.

A concrete proposition dealing with living costs has been presented to the House by Representative McKellar of Tennessee, a Democrat. He charges that the present high price of eggs is due in part to the modern system of impounding food products in cold storage plants. He declares that the law should lay heavy hands on men who seek to monopolize food products or to hold them in storage with a view to increasing prices.

Mr. McKellar has presented a resolution providing heavy fines and prison punishments for any storage operators who keep perishable food products in their warehouses more than ninety days. He vigorously condemns the practices of managers of cold storage plants, and declares that he has been informed that one concern destroyed eggs by the cold storage after the warehouses had been filled to their capacity rather than allow the eggs to go into the retail markets and thereby interfere with a plan to corner the market.

Mr. McKellar insists that the present high prices for eggs are not due to natural trade causes.

"The census shows that the production of eggs has constantly increased within the last few years," said he, "and that for a period of ten years, while there was an increase of 21 per cent. in population, there has been an increase of 23 per cent. in production of eggs."

HOT LETTERS IN THIS MAILBOX.

More Than a Score Burn Before Policeman Applies Seltzer Water.

"Mrs. Pankhurst or some of those English suffragettes must have been around here," said a woman to Policeman Martin Kurnan, who was standing at Madison avenue and Seventy-third street, last night. Kurnan wanted to know why she said that and she pointed down to Seventy-second street, where smoke was issuing from a mail box.

The policeman pulled up the letter slot and came a gust of flame. The policeman ran a bottle of seltzer water from a drug store and put out the fire. A mail carrier found twenty-two letters, all of them burned so that the addresses were unrecognizable. Who started the fire is not known.

MISSION HUNTS JOBS FOR FOUR EX-PRIESTS

Bishop Ferrando Says More
Clergymen Want to Quit
Catholic Church.

Letters have been sent out by the Home and Foreign Missions Aid Society, a new auxiliary to Christ's Mission at 231 West Fifty-seventh street, asking for support in getting jobs for former Catholic priests who want to enter the Protestant ministry.

Bishop Manuel Ferrando, head of Christ's Mission, said yesterday that more priests were coming to the mission than they could take care of. Four ex-priests and a monk who quit the Catholic Church just before he would have been ordained as a priest are being trained by the mission, said Dr. Ferrando.

One of the ex-priests had a parish in Ellensburg, N. J., said Dr. Ferrando. His name is Grogan. Another, J. Mochnio, came from Dakota. John Hadd, a monk from Syria, joined the mission in August. Giovanni Agazzi, another of the priests, Dr. Ferrando says joined the mission, came from Italy.

"If we had the proper means," said Dr. Ferrando, "we could take care of more. They come to us all the time. Those who come to us say they are dissatisfied because the church won't come to the modern standard of thought and theology. The priests who want to break away have not the means to do it. Those who do break away try to give the benefit of liberty."

"The priests come here for instruction, not for conversion. We do not go out to preach, but to help them looking for instruction in evangelized truth. The object of this mission is not to convert. There is no antagonism here. The door is open to the one who calls."

"The question is, What shall we do after we receive a priest here? It is hard to get positions for them. We are trying to get positions for four of them now. We
